Get Up and Go!

A PHYSICAL ACTIVITY RESOURCE GUIDE for CUMBERLAND COUNTY, MAINE
For additional copies of Get Up and Go! or for more information, please contact Let’s Go! at info@letsgo.org.

Let’s Go! is pleased to bring you the 3rd edition of Get Up and Go: A Physical Activity Resource Guide for Cumberland County. Visit the Let’s Go website at www.letsgo.org for additional resources.

The purpose of this guide is to help you find the information and resources you need to get moving toward a healthier life. Organized by town and type of activity, we hope this guide will help you discover many of the wonderful places in Cumberland County to meet your exercise goals.

If you live or work in other regions of the state, we urge you to contact one of the Healthy Maine Partnership coalitions for a similar resource guide or to find activities near you. For more information, please visit their website at www.healthymainepartnerships.org or call the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention at (207) 287-8016.

This guide is not intended to be a comprehensive listing of all fitness opportunities in the region. There may be additional resources that were inadvertently missed or have opened since the printing of this publication. If you have additional resources to include in the next version of this guide, please contact Let’s Go! at info@letsgo.org.

Let’s Go! would like to acknowledge the MaineHealth Learning Resource Centers (www.mainehealth.org) for their significant contribution to this guide.

Introduction

Eating well and being physically active are key to your child’s well-being. Eating too much and exercising too little can lead to overweight and related health problems that can follow children into their adult years.

You can take an active role in helping your child—and your whole family—learn healthy eating and physical activity habits.

Children are good learners, and they learn what they see. Choose healthy foods and active pastimes for yourself. Your children will see that they can follow healthy habits that last a lifetime.

A balanced diet and being physically active help children:

- grow properly
- learn and excel in school
- build strong bones and muscles
- have energy
- maintain a healthy weight
- avoid weight-related diseases like type 2 diabetes, sleep disorders, and high blood pressure
- get plenty of nutrients
- feel good about themselves
Types of Activity

AEROBIC ACTIVITY
Aerobic activities build endurance and keep the heart pumping at a steady but elevated rate for an extended period. Practicing them regularly can enhance cardiac function, boost HDL (the “good”) cholesterol levels, strengthen bones, and lower the risk of heart attack, high blood pressure, stroke, diabetes, and even some forms of cancer.

Aerobic exercise also trims body fat and can improve one’s sense of well-being. Examples include jogging, swimming, cycling, stair-climbing, and aerobic dancing. As little as one hour a week is helpful, but three to four hours per week are optimal. Because it is so natural and convenient, brisk walking is an excellent and easy way to accomplish aerobic activity.

STRENGTHENING ACTIVITY
Where aerobic exercises focus on endurance, strengthening activities focus on muscle strength. Adding 10 to 20 minutes of modest strength training two or three times a week is important for a balanced exercise program.

Strengthening activity is beneficial for everyone. In fact, strength training becomes even more important as one ages, because after age 30 everyone undergoes a slow process of muscle loss which can be reduced or even reversed by adding strengthening activities to an exercise program. Please note, people at risk for cardiovascular disease should not perform strengthening exercises without checking with a physician.

Any heavy object that can be held in the hand, such as a plastic bottle filled with sand or water, can serve as a weight. Heavy rubber bands or tubing are excellent devices for resistance training; they are inexpensive, come in various tensions, and are safer and more convenient than free weights for exercising all parts of the body.
FLEXIBILITY ACTIVITY

Flexibility training uses stretching exercises to prevent cramps, stiffness, and injuries. It also ensures a wider range of motion (the amount of movement a joint has). Yoga and t’ai chi, which focus on flexibility, balance, and proper breathing, may even lower stress and help to reduce blood pressure. Experts now recommend performing stretching exercises for 10 to 12 minutes at least three times a week.

When stretching, extend the muscle to the point of tension—not pain—and hold for 20 to 60 seconds (beginners may need to start with a 5- to 10-second stretch). Stretching is appropriate for the cooldown period after exercise but not for warming up, because it can injure “cold” muscles.

Is Physical Activity Safe for Me?

Most healthy adults can increase their physical activity without a medical exam. However, if you can answer yes to any of the following questions, please call your healthcare provider before increasing your physical activity.

- Has your doctor ever restricted you or told you not to engage in exercise or physical activities?
- Are you extremely breathless after only mild activity?
- Do you take medications for high blood pressure or a heart problem?
- Do you have a medical condition that might need special attention if you increase your current activity level, such as diabetes or back problems?
- Are you middle-aged or older, physically inactive, and planning a fairly vigorous exercise program?
Benefits of Physical Activity

- Feel better
- Look better
- Lose weight
- Have more energy
- Have greater stamina
- Improve overall health
- Reduce chance of injury
- Live longer

Regular physical activity can also help prevent many diseases and help people already living with conditions, such as:

- Cardiovascular disease
- High blood pressure
- High cholesterol
- Diabetes
- Osteoarthritis
- Osteoporosis
- Back problems
- Depression

Avoiding Injuries

The following are some things you can do to make sure you are exercising safely:

- Start slowly. Build up your activities and your level of effort gradually. Doing too much, too soon, can hurt you, especially if you have been inactive.
- Use appropriate safety equipment, such as helmets, knee and elbow pads, and eye protection, to keep you from getting hurt.
Be sure to drink plenty of water when you are doing endurance activities that make you sweat. Many older people tend to be low on fluid much of the time, even when not exercising.

When you bend forward, bend from the hips, not the waist. If you keep your back straight, you’re probably bending correctly. If you let your back “hump” anyplace, you’re probably bending from the waist, which is the wrong way.

Make sure your muscles are warmed up before you stretch, or you could hurt them. For example, you can do a little easy biking, or walking and light arm pumping first.

None of your activities should hurt or make you feel really tired. You might feel some soreness, a slight discomfort, or a bit weary, but you should not feel pain… in fact, in many ways, physical activity and exercise will probably make you feel better.
What Lies Ahead

This guide is designed to help you find a fitness facility or activity to suit your needs. The resources are separated by town, and then by area of interest. Not every town will have facilities in each category. The categories are:

Community Services
Community services include organizations such as adult education and recreation programs. These facilities usually offer a variety of activities to suit people of all fitness levels.

Fitness Clubs/Personal Trainers
This category is where you will find a membership gym with all types of equipment, and personal trainers who will work with you on an individual level.

On Your Own
This category includes all of the natural wonders in Cumberland County. There are walking paths, parks, and beaches open for all types of outdoor activities.

Other Interests
In this section you will find all sorts of facilities, such as golf courses, riding farms, and yoga centers. There are a variety of activities for people of all ages.

Free resources are marked with an asterisk (•).
Statewide Resources

BICYCLE COALITION OF MAINE

www.bikemaine.org

A comprehensive website available for people to find bicycle trails in their local communities. The primary focus of these trail listings is non-auto-traffic roads, trails, and paths open for bicycle use. A select number of on-road routes (the 25 MDOT-designated bike touring loops and the interim, on-road East Coast Greenway Route) are listed because they were especially selected by local bicyclists, utilize scenic, low-traffic roads and have detailed route descriptions. There are limitless, on-road bicycling opportunities in Maine.

HEALTHY MAINE PARTNERSHIPS

www.healthymainepartnerships.org

Healthy Maine Partnerships is an initiative that was established to link aspects of the five Maine CDC (formerly Maine Bureau of Health) programs:
- Partnership For a Tobacco-Free Maine (PTM),
- Maine Cardiovascular Health Program (MCVHP),
- Physical Activity and Nutrition Program,
- Community Health Program, and
- The Maine CDC Coordinated School Health Programs in collaboration with the Department of Education’s Coordinated School Health Programs.

The website includes linkages to the Healthy Maine Walks website in addition to providing a Home Fitness Kit.

Healthy Maine Partnerships are working together to improve the health of our service area by promoting healthy, active ways of life. This joint effort makes it easier for people living and working in our service areas to eat healthy, be physically active, and live their lives tobacco-free.

Healthy Portland and Healthy Casco Bay are programs of the Eastern Cumberland County Healthy Coalition, Public Health Division, Health and Human Services Department, City of Portland.

The Healthy Lakes Region and the Healthy Rivers Region are programs of the Communities Promoting Health Coalition of the People’s Region Opportunity Program (PROP).

- Heathy Lakes Region: serving the towns of Cape Elizabeth, Gorham, Scarborough, South Portland, and Westbrook.
- Healthy Portland: serving the City of Portland; www.healthyportland.org
- Healthy Rivers Region: serving the towns of Baldwin, Bridgton, Casco, Harrison, Naples, Raymond, Sebago, Standish, and Windham.
HEALTHY MAINE WALKS

www.healthymainewalks.org
Healthy Maine Walks is sponsored by a coalition of trails, health agencies and organizations working together to build a healthier Maine. These groups have joined forces to promote healthier lifestyles, and they have made it easier for Mainers to find and use walking routes in communities all across the state. Healthy Maine Walks provides a central location for towns and local groups to register walks and includes descriptions of registered paths for those interested in locating places to walk. To learn more about places to walk in your community or to obtain more information, log on to the Healthy Maine Walks website.

LET’S GO!

www.letsgo.org
Let’s Go! is a community-based initiative to promote healthy lifestyle choices for children, youth, and families in 12 Greater Portland communities. Our goal is to increase physical activity and healthy eating of children and youth ages 18 and under.

MAINE BUREAU OF PARKS & LANDS

www.state.me.us/doc/parks
A great searchable website that allows users to locate trails on state land.

MAINE OUTDOOR ADVENTURE CLUB

www.moac.org
An all-volunteer-member organization. Members organize and lead all trips and activities from beginner to expert. These outdoor activities can be peaceful, relaxing, and at the same time, a challenging day of hiking, kayaking, or skiing. From the extremes of winter camping and ice/rock climbing to the strenuous hike, mountain bike ride, ocean paddle, or river kayak, to the gentle sail, walk, or snowshoe, MOAC has something to offer everyone.

WINTERKIDS

www.winterkids.org
WinterKids is a nonprofit organization committed to helping children develop lifelong habits of health, education, and physical fitness through outdoor, winter activity. We have seven exciting programs to help us accomplish this goal.
